REC'D MAR 2 6 2003

DRAFT STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF CLAIM BY THE STATE OF MONTANA AGAINST W. R. GRACE & CO. IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

The State of Montana has been named as a defendant in about 25 lawsuits involving more than 200 individual plaintiffs. More than 100 additional persons have filed tort claims against the State under the Montana Tort Claims Act, Mont. Code Ann. §§ 2-9-101 to 2-9-318, and are expected to file suits. All of the suits allege exposure to asbestos dust because of the activities of W.R. Grace & Co. (Grace) in Montana. The majority of the plaintiffs allege that they have been diagnosed with various diseases caused by the asbestos dust.

Many of the plaintiffs allege exposure to asbestos dust while employed by Grace at its vermiculite mining and milling operations in Lincoln County, Montana. Some of the plaintiffs are family members of Grace employees who allege exposure to the asbestos dust brought home on the clothing of family members employed by Grace.

A small number of plaintiffs allege exposure to asbestos dust while working at Grace facilities or railroad facilities in Lincoln County while employed by entities other than Grace.

A small number of plaintiffs allege exposure to asbestos dust while living in Libby, Montana, or in Lincoln County, Montana, near Grace facilities or railroad facilities used to transport asbestos-contaminated vermiculite.

A small number of plaintiffs allege exposure to asbestos-contaminated vermiculite products.

Two plaintiffs allege exposure from asbestos-contaminated vermiculite and from asbestos-contaminated soil on property the plaintiffs purchased from Grace.

The plaintiffs with asbestos-related diseases seek to recover their damages, including medical expenses, loss of their established course of life, and physical and mental pain and suffering. The spouses of persons with asbestos-related diseases seek to recover damages for loss of consortium.

All of the lawsuits and claims allege that beginning in 1956, the State of Montana, through its board of health, had knowledge of dangerous levels of asbestos dust at Grace's vermiculite milling facilities, as reflected in industrial hygiene studies prepared by an industrial hygienist employed by the State. In addition, most of the suits allege that the State had knowledge through death certificate reporting procedures that Grace employees had died of asbestosis and pulmonary fibrosis.

The suits claim that the State negligently failed to take sufficient action to protect and to warn the plaintiffs about the asbestos hazards.

If the State of Montana were found liable to the plaintiffs in any of these suits, the State would have contribution and indemnity claims against Grace. The contribution claims would be based upon Mont. Code Ann. § 27-1-703. The indemnity claims would be based upon the common law as described in Great Northern Ry. v. United States, 187 F. Supp. 690 (D. Mont. 1960) and approved by several cases including Variety Inc. v. Hustad Corp., 145 Mont. 358, 400 P.2d 408 (1965); Crosby v. Billings Deaconess Hosp., 149 Mont. 314, 426 P.2d 217 (1967); Fletcher v. City of Helena, 163 Mont. 337, 517 P.2d 365 (1973).

MONTANA NINETEENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT, LINCOLN COUNTY

RICHARD FLESHER, IRA A. TROYER, DOROTHY NOBLE, BARBARA NELSON, and DOUG KELLEY, Plaintiffs, vs. STATE OF MONTANA, by and through the DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY; the DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES; DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY; MONTANA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, DIVISION OF DISEASE CONTROL; MONTANA STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, DIVISION OF AIR POLLUTION CONTROL AND INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE; and DOES A-Z, Defendants.	CAUSE NO. DV-01-86 MICHAEL C. PREZEAU, DISTRICT JUDGE AMENDED COMPLAINT AND JURY DEMAND

COME NOW the plaintiffs, demanding trial by jury, and for their complaint against the above named defendants allege:

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

I.

Plaintiffs are natural persons, who are citizens and residents of Montana.

SAMPLE COMPLAINT

II.

The State of Montana is a governmental entity. The Department of Environmental Quality; the Department of Public Health and Human Services; the Department of Labor and Industry; the Montana State Board of Health, Division of Disease Control; and the Montana State Department of Health, Division of Air Pollution Control and Industrial Hygiene are or were agencies of the State of Montana.

III.

The true names and capacities of the defendants named herein as Does A-Z, inclusive, are unknown to the plaintiffs at this time, who therefore bring this action against said defendants by fictitious name. Plaintiffs will seek leave to amend their complaint to state the true names and capacities of Does A-Z when the same have been ascertained, together with further charging allegations, as appropriate. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and thereon allege that each of said fictitiously named defendants may be legally responsible in some manner for the occurrences alleged herein and that plaintiffs' damages as alleged herein may have been proximately caused in part by said defendants' unlawful acts or omissions.

IV.

This court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action and personal jurisdiction over each of the parties.

V.

Venue in this action is proper in Lincoln County, Montana, because one or more of the defendants engaged in tortious conduct within Lincoln County.

VI.

The acts and omissions giving rise to the State of Montana's liability for plaintiffs' asbestosis were carried out by the Department of Environmental Quality; the Department of Labor and Industry; the Department of Public Health and Human Services; the Montana State Board of Health, Division of Disease Control; the Montana State Department of Health, Division of Air Pollution Control and Industrial Hygiene; and/or other agents, servants, and employees of the State of Montana. Each of these Departments and/or agents, servants, and employees is or was an institution and/or agent of the State of Montana. (The State of Montana and each of the Departments and their predecessors and successors will hereinafter be referred to collectively as the "State.")

VII.

Asbestos is an extremely deadly substance consisting of tiny needle like fibers that are sharply pointed and easily penetrate and lodge in the linings of the lungs. Human lungs are unable to remove asbestos that has speared itself into lung tissue, and the asbestos spears cannot be washed out of the lung tissues by blood. As a result, affected lung areas become inflamed, in time heavily scarred, and ultimately nonfunctional. For those who undergo this disease process, it becomes increasingly more difficult to breathe. Ultimately, the person suffocates.

VIII.

The sinister effects of asbestos exposure are compounded by the fact that diseases caused by asbestos have long latency periods. It is not uncommon for persons to be first diagnosed with potentially fatal diseases many years following their initial exposure to asbestos.

IX.

At all times relevant to this action, defendants had actual knowledge that vermiculite, originating from the business activities of Zonolite Company and W. R. Grace & Company (hereinafter referred to from time to time as "Grace") in Lincoln County, was contaminated with asbestos. The defendants had actual knowledge that asbestos was extremely hazardous and that exposure to asbestos causes potentially fatal diseases, including asbestosis, lung cancer, and mesothelioma.

X.

Plaintiffs were exposed to deadly asbestos contaminated vermiculite in Lincoln County, Montana. Plaintiff Richard Flesher worked for Grace from 1973 to 1979. Plaintiff Ira Troyer worked for Grace from 1963 to 1992. Plaintiff Douglas Kelley worked for Grace from 1973 to 1976. Plaintiff Dorothy Noble was exposed to asbestos brought home on the clothing of her deceased spouse, Harvey R. Noble, while he was employed by Grace for approximately thirty-one (31) years from 1951 until 1982. Plaintiff Barbara Nelson was exposed to asbestos brought home on the clothing of her deceased spouse, Gerald Nelson, during the period of time he was employed by Grace for approximately twenty-four (24) years from 1966 until 1990.

XI.

Since the 1950's, the State has been responsible for the oversight of a vermiculite mine and associated mining facilities located in Lincoln County, Montana and owned by Zonolite Company or its successor, W. R. Grace & Company. (In 1963 Grace took over ownership and operation of the Libby vermiculite mine and mill from Zonolite Company.)

XII.

On August 8, 1956, the State began conducting industrial hygiene studies at said vermiculite mine and mill. Over the next twelve years, that is from 1956 to 1968, the State conducted at least five industrial hygiene studies at said mine and mill and corresponded with Grace management officials concerning Grace's asbestos health hazard on at least three other occasions.

XIII.

By 1968, the reports to Zonolite Company and Grace discussed the direct link between exposures to the mines' asbestos contaminated vermiculite and terminal lung cancers and stated that asbestos dust was of "considerable toxicity and that workers exposed to the dust were looking at serious lung and heart disease." This information was concealed from the public. In bold letters, the State wrote on many of the documents:

> "THIS REPORT IS CONFIDENTIAL AND IS NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION EXCEPT TO THE MANAGEMENT OF THE ZONOLITE COMPANY."

XIV.

All of the reports and correspondence from the State to Zonolite Company or to Grace were directed exclusively and confidentially to the management of Zonolite Company and/or Grace. The State authorized multiple industrial hygiene reports concerning the vermiculite mine on Zonolite Mountain and made it clear on the cover of each such report that these industrial hygiene reports were not to be distributed to anyone other than the management of Grace and/or Zonolite Company.

XV.

Each of the above described industrial hygiene study reports prepared by the State discussed the high dust concentrations and the high asbestos content of the dust. Beginning in 1956, the reports discussed the extremely toxic nature of the asbestos dust and the debilitating and life threatening nature of the lung disease caused by exposure to asbestos.

XVI.

The State has known for decades that the asbestos dust in the air at Libby was of "considerable toxicity and that workers exposed to the dust were looking at serious lung and heart disease." The State has also known for decades of the asbestos-cancer link at the Zonolite Company and Grace Libby facility and that Libby workers and their families were at increased risk for developing asbestosis and lung cancer.

XVII.

The State has known for decades that extended exposure to asbestos at the Grace Libby facility and in Lincoln County was unreasonably dangerous and hazardous to the health of workers, their families, and the public at large, but the State failed to make this information public. Rather than enforcing the law by compelling Zonolite Company and Grace to clean up their deadly operations, the State effectively became the accomplice of Zonolite Company and Grace and aided and abetted Grace's concealment of this enormous public health problem. Lack of public knowledge of the enormity of the Libby asbestos disaster continued until 1999 when media reports began to expose the cover up and the extensive harm it had caused.

XVIII.

The State's complicity in Grace's egregious misconduct continued well into the 1990's. In the State's own internal memo dated March 4, 1992, the Montana Occupational Health Bureau stated:

> Ten to twenty workers are dismantling the mine and buildings with asbestos dust throughout, without protective clothing or gear. This activity has occurred at the industrial area already and is proceeding to the screening and processing plant. The ground is covered with vermiculite/asbestos. Rainy Creek, approximately 50-100 feet from the screening plant, has asbestos getting into it from the activities that are occurring. Four grain storage bins, used to store the ore, are located along the Kooteneai River, of which, the bin's integrity are questionable.

Plaintiff Ira Troyer was one of the ten to twenty workers who dismantled the mine and buildings. Plaintiff Barbara Nelson's exposure to asbestos continued into through 1990 as a result of her deceased husband's continued employment with Grace. The citizens of Lincoln County, including all of the plaintiffs, continued to be exposed to abnormally high levels of asbestos as a result of Grace's continued operations in Lincoln County into the 1990's. Nothing was done by the State to notify or to protect the public, including the plaintiffs, from the perils of this extraordinary human health hazard.

XIX.

In 1994, Michael Crill, a former Grace employee, warned the State that the people who had purchased Grace's "screening plant property" along the banks of the Kooteneai River, were in grave danger because of the asbestos waste located there. Mr. Crill also advised the State that clouds of asbestos contaminated dust were being created when logging trucks used the road leading to and from the Zonolite Mountain mine site. Mr. Crill actually met with a State inspector concerning the asbestos contamination. The State inspector promised to take action on Mr. Crill's information, but never did anything to warn the public or correct the problem.

XX.

In 1995, Mr. Crill realized that the State had not acted on the critically important information he had provided. Therefore, he wrote to the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The EPA notified the State. The State did nothing.

XXI.

In approximately 1998, another Libby citizen, Gayla Bennefield, notified the Montana Governor's office that the people of Libby were in danger because of the asbestos hazards created by Grace's operations. Again, nothing was done and nothing was made public.

XXII.

In the Fall of 1999, the Seattle Post Intelligencer, as well as several Montana newspapers, broke the story that the mining and milling operations on Zonolite Mountain had subjected the citizens in and around Libby, Montana to grave health risks.

XXIII.

Subsequently, the EPA conducted air tests and took soil samples disclosing the enormity of the human health problem in Libby and Lincoln County, Montana. The EPA reported its findings in May, 2000, unfortunately too late for many Lincoln County citizens, who had already contracted deadly asbestos related diseases. The May, 2000 EPA report stated that cumulative exposures to tremolite fibers at facilities in Lincoln County are likely to present an ongoing endangerment of residents, workers and visitors in the area. The EPA's sampling efforts demonstrated "abundance of fibrous minerals in media sampled." The report went on to state as follows:

> The chemical nature of the fibers identify them as asbestiform amphiboles known to cause multiple cancers in humans and animals at multiple target organs. These fibers are particularly dangerous when inhaled and are directly related to production of mesothelioma, a particularly lethal neoplasm of the mesodermal lining of the lung. Additionally, amphibole mineral fibers can cause a wide variety of malignant lung tumors.
> In addition to the carcinogenic effects associated with tremolite fibers, non-malignant asbestosis can result in debilitating and lethal respiratory disease. Tremolite fibers can cause thickening and fibrosis of the pleural lining of the lung and scarring of the lung parenchyma. The resulting loss of lung compliance and respiratory capacity can progress over the course of several years.

XXIV.

The State has done nothing to disseminate to the plaintiffs and to the public the critically important information in its possession relating to the extreme health hazards associated with the vermiculite mining, processing, and transporting activities of the Zonolite Company and Grace in Lincoln County. The State has thereby aided and abetted Zonolite Company and Grace in the concealment of this enormous human health disaster from the public. The State's misconduct continues to the present date. In fact, the State has conducted meetings with high level Grace officers and officials, but has never notified the plaintiffs, other Grace

1 employees, their families, and the public concerning the nature and extent of harm
2 from exposure to Grace's asbestos dust. Plaintiffs remained ignorant of the nature
3 and extent of the life threatening risk involved in exposure to the asbestos gener-
4 ated and released by Zonolite and Grace until it has become too late to protect
5 themselves from harm.

6 XXV.

7 The State's acts and omissions constitute negligence, gross negligence,
8 and reckless disregard for the obligation the State owes to its citizens, including
9 the plaintiffs, resulting in overexposure of the plaintiffs to deadly asbestos fibers.
10 The State's ongoing neglect over a period of many years resulted in additional 11 overexposures and harm. Asbestos poisoning could have been substantially and 12 meaningfully reduced and perhaps eliminated for individuals living and working in 13 Lincoln County had the State acted reasonably and responsibly.

14 XXVI.

15 Each negligent and reckless act or omission alleged herein was committed
16 by an employee or agent of the State, who was acting within the course and scope
17 of his employment or agency with the State. Each negligent and reckless act or 18 omission alleged herein is imputable to the State.

19 XXVII.

20 The State owed the plaintiffs a duty to advise them of the results of their 21 studies and research which directly and substantially affected plaintiffs' health.

22 XXVIII.

23 The State breached its duty of care to the plaintiffs by failing to disseminate 24 asbestos health hazard information to the plaintiffs; by failing to warn plaintiffs of

1 the hazards associated with exposure to Grace's asbestos contaminated vermicu-
2 lite; by failing to inform plaintiffs, or seeing to it that plaintiffs were informed, of the 3 extreme asbestosis and cancer risk associated with exposure to Grace's asbestos;
4 and by failing to enforce its rules and orders against Grace thereby aiding and
5 abetting Grace in the concealment of its abnormally dangerous business activities
6 for profit in Lincoln County, Montana.

7 XXIX.

8 As a direct result of the State's breach of its duty of care, plaintiffs were 9 deprived of the opportunity to make an informed decision about where they lived
10 and worked, and plaintiffs were exposed to deadly asbestos contaminated ver-
11 miculite dust. Had the State acted reasonably and had information been timely 12 conveyed to plaintiffs and the public, plaintiffs could have avoided the direct and 13 substantial asbestos exposure which caused their asbestos related lung disease.

14 XXX.

15 The State's unlawful conduct, as herein alleged, was a direct and proxi-
16 mate cause of plaintiffs' asbestos related lung disease.

17 XXXI.

18 As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the defendants,
19 as herein alleged, the plaintiffs incurred medical expenses and will continue to in-
20 cur future medical expenses.

21 XXXII.

22 As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the defendants,
23 as herein alleged, the plaintiffs have experienced lost earnings and/or loss of 24 earning capacity.

XXXIII.

As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the defendants, as herein alleged, plaintiffs have experienced great physical and mental pain and suffering and will continue to suffer in the future.

XXXIV.

As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the defendants, as herein alleged, the plaintiffs have suffered loss of and damage to their established course and way of life.

XXXV.

As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the defendants, as herein alleged, plaintiffs have sustained damages related to emotional distress.

JURY DEMAND

Plaintiffs demand trial by jury.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray for judgment against defendants as follows:

1. For a full measure of reasonable compensation for plaintiffs' medical and related expenses caused by the defendants' unlawful conduct.

2. For a full measure of reasonable compensation for plaintiffs' lost earnings and loss of earning capacity caused by the defendants' unlawful conduct.

3. For a full measure of reasonable compensation for plaintiffs' mental and physical pain and suffering caused by the defendants' unlawful conduct.

4. For a full measure of reasonable compensation for plaintiffs' loss of enjoyment of life caused by the defendants' unlawful conduct.

5. For a full measure of reasonable compensation for plaintiffs' emotional distress caused by the defendants' unlawful conduct.

6. For costs and disbursements incurred herein.

7. For such other and further relief as to the court may seem just.

DATED this 5th day of November, 2001.
