Hi Wayne

The rate of GBP 270.00 was quoted on the basis of organising the movement of 3 cases on a door to door transport.

At no point did you indicate that the 3 cases were to move on separate movements. If you had then we have quoted accordingly for this.

We send bond approval to LCB for 3 cases and we then received ok that order was processed. As far as we were concerned we should have been collecting 3 cases. The international driver that collected from LCB quoted the load reference supplied and in turn carried out the delivery accordingly. The question that should be getting asked is why was the other 2 cases not ready?

Stuart,

This really is unacceptable.

1) Throughout our communication I had indicated to you that it's for three cases at the price of GBP270.00.

2) Never in our communication have you indicated to me that GBP270.00 was for one pallet, i.e. one delivery only. Please refer to email below.

2) It was clear from Jame's email below, that "Currently 1 case is available for pickup, soon 2 more will be available as well". I have requested THREE CASES to be delivered, and you have taken the liberty to ship ONE case as a whole pallet regardless of its contents.

3) Even if the price of GBP270.00 was for ONE pallet, you should have CHECKED AND EXAMINED the contents were what I had mentioned in my previous email requested (i.e. 2009 Haut Brion 750ml x12, 2009 Margaux 750ml x12, 2009 Lafite Rothschild 750mlx12).

Please advise how this should be rectify.

Hi James,

I have just confirmed that the case shipped over to Blanquetfort was only 1 case of Haut Brion, and per James' email below, the other two should be available soon. Grateful if you could please follow up with these remaining two cases.

Hi Stuart,

For the two remaining cases, as advised by you in the email below, shall be inclusive within the GBP270.00.

Hi James / Wayne,

For this order of 3 cases over to Blanqufort, the cost including our MGN will be GBP 270.00

After discussing with LCB they advised that the use of our MGN is required.

Can you please send over the above funds so we can start to arrange your shipment.

Attached is details of bank account and company details etc.

Hello Stuart,

I understand you will be picking up a few cases in total for our mutual client Wayne Chan. These will need to be picked up in bond from the VINE warehouse in London. Currently 1 case is available for pickup, soon 2 more will be available as well. Please promptly contact vine@lcb.co.uk to make arrangements for the pickup. Note that the reference number you will need for the pickup is 27191. Our contact for this at Vine has been:

Claire Houlihan | Senior Client Executive

DD: +44 (0)20 7062 8761

claire@lv-ex.com

Skype: claire4livex

And her last e-mail to us this morning stated: "please give the reference 27191 to Hillebrand and ask them to contact yine@lcb.co.uk in order to make the collection. If they do not collect speedily, we will have to land the wines back into your account."

Hi again Wayne,

The Haut Brion already at the warehouse in LCB came directly from our negotiant in France. The Lafite and Margaux that will be there shortly will also come directly from a negotiant in France. No these have not come to the US, or anywhere else, and been shipped to the UK.

Yes all 3 will be in original cases. I honestly do not know whether these will be in 12-pack OWC or 2 x 6-pack OWC, but they will be original packaging. It is a lot more common for these to be in 12-pack. We cannot guaranty the size of the box, but these will be in original packaging.

We await your information to pass along to the warehouse, in order to schedule your pickup as appropriate.

Regards,

James Gilleman

Hi James,

Grateful if you could confirm whatever has arrived in the UK (i.e. Haut Brion), or will be arriving in the UK (i.e. Lafite and Margaux), had been or will be shipped directly from France, and not the USA or any other countries.

In avoidance of doubt, this means that none of the goods in original wood cases had been or will be exported to any countries other than within France or the UK.

To summarize, can you please confirm to following:

- 1) The Haut Brion (ready for pickup in the UK per email below), has not been exported to any other countries, and had directly arrived UK from France;
- 2) The Lafite and Margaux (will be ready for pickup in the UK in coming weeks per email below), is currently in France and had not been exported to any other countries, and shall directly arrive in the UK;
- 3) All three of the cases above are in original wood cases.

I shall provide all the necessary info requested (i.e. pickup details/warehouse etc) once the above three questions have been confirmed.

Thanks and regards,
Wayne

Hello Wayne,

I apologize if I have not communicated clearly enough.

Yes we have long expected that you would be picking these 3 cases up in the UK, in London City Bond. This is clearly indicated in the thread below, in great detail. You initially requested shipment to Hong Kong, which is also fine. However at some point, after purchase, you requested getting the wines in UK. We agreed that we could provide these bottles to you or your agent as a PICK UP from our London warehouse.

As indicated in my last e-mail, the Haut Brion is there for you right now, and can be picked up whenever you wish. The Lafite and Margaux will be available for pickup in the coming weeks. If you want to pick everything up together, you may wish to wait a couple weeks or so for all 3 cases to be available. However if you want the Haut Brion sooner, there is no problem. We can have that case released to you soon, with the additional cases to follow in the coming weeks.

However to release anything to you for pickup, I do need the information requested in my previous e-mail. Please provide the contact information for your UK agent or shipping company, and any other details you have. We will then give instructions to our warehouse to release the wines to that agent.

Regards,

James Gillerman

Hi James,

I have in my previous emails stated (refer to "January 08, 2013 10:40 PM", and you've responded "9 Jan 2013 12:26:12") that these should be shipped from France to UK, and NOT from the USA to UK. You have responded that this could be done. Importing from the USA and its related import labels will affect the prices severely. Please advise how these can be shipped from France to the UK per conversation below.

I feel awfully discriminated for this delay, and I have already begun engaging my lawyer to review this matter.

Either 1) this is shipped from France to the UK, or 2) I demand a full refund (also the related rights to its years of interest herein).

If ordering 3 cases isn't a priority for Premier Cru, please state so at the beginning, so that these orders could have been done elsewhere and could have arrived by latest 2012.

Hello Wayne,

My understanding is that you wanted to pick these up at our export warehouse in London City Bond in the UK. Please confirm. Certainly we can ship them from here in California back to the UK if you prefer, or to Hong Kong for that matter. However you had requested UK pickup, and that is what we expected to provide for you.

You have the following wines currently on order here:

12 x 09 Haut Brion
12 x 09 Lafite Rothschild
12 x 09 Margaux

Currently, the Haut Brion is at the export warehouse waiting for you, and can be picked up whenever you wish, with suitable advance arrangements. I am told both the Lafite and Margaux will be available for pickup there by the end of this month. Thanks for your patience on these bottles. You are welcome to get the Haut Brion soon and the other cases in the next few weeks, or wait and get all 3 cases by the end of the month.

We need all the following information from you to release any bottles to you for UK Pickup:

+ We need the complete contact name, company (if appropriate), telephone, address, e-mail, postal code of your UK agent or shipping company for pickup.

+ We need to know whether you will be picking these up in bond, or paying duty on these.

+ If you have an Excise number and/or Warehouse ID number, please provide it.

Thank you for your business. Please provide the appropriate contact and other information for your UK agent and we will have our UK warehouse contact them to make suitable arrangements to release the wines for pickup.

Regards,

James Gillerman

Hello Wayne,

Nothing is going on, it is just that we are not up to your place in the queue for these quite yet. We will indeed get you these presently. Thanks for your continued patience on these very, very young wines. All are bottles we too have purchased, and in staggeringly large quantities. I have once again queried our international shipping coordinator to ask about UK pickup of your 3 cases. Again please bear in mind that pickups are usually coordinated for 10-100 cases, not for only 3. However we will be able to get these to you in UK, just not immediately. Again thank you for your patience, and your business.

Hi Wayne,

We have thousands of cases coming through Seabrook. However we need to allocate the wines coming into Seabrook roughly in the order they were purchased from us. We have a little way to go down the queue yet before we can provide Seabrook with instructions to hold your specific cases for you. We will provide you and Seabrook with those instructions when we are close to your place in the queue. Thanks for your patience, and your business.

Thanks James. I have contacted Seabrook your uk export warehouse below, and they have suggested me to provide details of the goods ie three cases. do you have a delivery number or older number? Seabrook needs this for holding the wines. Pls see caption below.

Wayne, Yes, we can hold these wines and then release to "Hillebrand" (the logistics co which will pick up the goods from seabrook) when they request. Please send details of the wines to expect and your full name, address and contact details so we can open an account on your behalf.

James, grateful if u can provide any "to be received" info of such wines. Thanks.

Hi Wayne,

I apologize I did not notice that you were one of our customers for UK pickup at our export warehouse. Yes this request has already been forwarded to the shipping coordinator. Once all your cases are available in the UK, we will e-mail you instructions to pick them up at the warehouse. Again it will be your responsibility at that point to do all paperwork and arrangements for onward transport. However they are still pre-arrivals at this point. Thanks for your patience. It should not be too much longer of a wait.

Hi Wayne,

Your cases are still pre-arrivals here. Thanks for your patience. All of these bottles will migrate here presently, and we will get them to you. We purchase these bottles in staggeringly large quantities, and it takes a while to get all the bottles here. We allocate the arriving wine in the order purchased. We started selling this wine about 6 months before you purchased yours. We are getting close to your position in the queue for these, but we are not there yet. Of course all of the bottles will get here presently. These are all bottles WE have purchased, just as you have. We probably sell more of these wines than almost anyone else in the US, and it takes a while to get all of it transferred here. However our prices are excellent, as you no doubt know. We have been delivering Bordeaux futures for well over 3 decades now, and again I can assure you that you will get these. It should not be too much longer of a wait. Once again thank you for your business, and your patience.

Wayne,

We do not have an account at London City Bond either. That is one of the many reasons we do not SHIP from there. We can allow PICKUPS from there, but only if YOU are solely responsible for any and all requisite paperwork and onward shipping. We cannot really help you with that. The reality is that 99.9% of what we do from Europe is import wines to the US. From here in the US, we have many different options for getting the wine to you. However we do not have offices in Europe, nor licenses to operate from there (other than importing to the US). We will be happy to cooperate with you as best we can if you obtain such licenses and deal with the requisite paperwork.

The above being said, our export warehouse in the UK is Seabrooks. It is possible you can work something out with them. But other than making the wine available to you from that warehouse, any onward shipments are really up to you.

Thanks for your business, and your understanding.

Thanks a lot James.

I think this can be resolved now.

Assuming Premier Cru has an account at London City Bond, that means the 3 cases don't need to go under my account (doesn't exist). So when these 3 cases arrive (if all three arrive around the same time / at the same time), I can arrange the logistics Co (which does all the papers etc) to pick them up from London City Bond (under account name Premier Cru) for me. Is this ok?

Wayne,

I will deal with point #2 first as this really is the gating factor. It is also most likely why most customers have many more than just a few cases when arranging for such a pickup, as just a few cases is not usually cost effective for either you or us.

The reality is that arranging for a pickup from our warehouse in London City Bond is the ONLY way we can arrange to get you the bottles in Europe, other than importing them to the US and shipping them back to Europe. Just as you, we would need different kinds of licensing and logistics to ship from the export warehouse. If you cannot make your own arrangements to PICK UP from that warehouse, and deal with all the requisite paperwork, then we will just need to import the bottles here. Once here, there are many more options available for shipment (or pick up).

If you cannot arrange for pick up with your point #2, then point #1 becomes irrelevant. However it probably is possible to coordinate all the cases being at the London warehouse at the same time. This will mean you will need to wait for the last of the cases to get there, and presumably there will still be supplies of the other wines at the warehouse. I am nearly certain we can arrange this for you if you can solve the problems of pick up more generally.

Thanks James. I'm now speaking to various wine logistics companies to arrange a pick up.

While I do that, grateful if you could please help with 2 more questions?:

1) Why must the the cases arrive in London City Bond at different times, and not at the same time? The reason is the wine companies can't help me deliver these separately (i.e. London City Bond or any other destinations cannot hold wines and must export them instantly due to customs). Can you pls let me know if these 3 cases can be delivered to a UK destination all at once?

2) Instead of London City Bond, are there any other destinations which you can send to? I have spoken to London City Bond, and they told me that I must open an account with them (which costs way too much!).

Grateful and much appreciate your advice and accommodation.

Thank you.

Hi again Wayne,

We basically have 2 choices for you.

We can offer to let you PICK UP the wines from London city bond. That can only happen with full cases (which you do have). Normally this happens with many more than just 3 cases, but I suppose it is possible for this few cases as well if you wish. You would be solely responsible for any onward documentation, and getting the wines out of London city bond to whatever destination you wish. You are solely responsible for any and all duties, taxes or customs fees that may be incurred. We do have customers who arrange their own shipments from our export warehouse, but we just cannot do shipping arrangements from that warehouse on our end. We do need to know well in advance to arrange this pick up. There is no guaranty all 3 of your cases will arrive at the export warehouse at the same time.

Of course most of our customers that are not dealing with pallets of wine choose to just have us ship wine from our store in the US. It is much easier for us, and probably for you as well. We have many, many customers in Hong Kong, and we ship there all the time. It is just a standard UPS/Fedex/DHL shipment. We have recently been using a service called Fedex Great Rates that is quite reasonable. We have been shipping to Hong Kong at about $170 per 12-bottle box or thereabouts. Prices tend to go down when more is shipped.

Still it is your choice. You just need to let us know well in advance if you DO want to pick up at the London warehouse.

(Please find attached two sales order receipts for 3 cases: 09 Lafite Rothschild, 09 Haut Brion, 09 Margaux)

1) What is the process for shipment? I understand per previous queries that Premiercru can ship to the UK (London)? Once these 3 cases are shipped to the UK, I would like to arrange it to be shipped back to Bordeaux City Bond in France. What should I do?

2) Otherwise, is it even possible to directly go Bordeaux City Bond (shouldn't incur any taxes etc for Premiercru)?

3) Pls kindly tell me what other things I need to do now to make the above 1) or 2) happen? Any documents required, what's the required timelines etc?

Thanks a lot, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Wayne,

It is likely that we WILL be able to ship these to our export warehouse in the UK, and let you pick them up from there. Again we cannot do this in France, but it must be in the UK. This will be limited to full case lots, as we cannot easily take cases apart and give you a few bottles here and there. We can work out the details as things get closer in a year or 2, and we see how much you have. Of course there is no guaranty that all the different wines will be available at the same time, but again we can work these details out as we find out delivery schedules in future.

Yes you can easily add a new default card in your web profile. You can also specify different cards when you place an order on the website. Now that we have all your information of file, you can either order on the website, or you can e-mail me your orders (and include the last 4 digits of the card to use).

Thank you for your business.

Hello Wayne,

First, we may or may not be able to provide these to you in Europe. Normally we will only do this for large amounts of wine, as it is really difficult to guaranty European pickup for a few cases or less of individual wines. I will check, and it MAY be possible. I cannot promise that though. In past, we have often allowed pickup of multi-case lots of wine in our UK export warehouse. Our French warehouse does not currently allow this. We are talking years into the future, so it is certainly possible things will change.

You should not open a second account under your name. That will make it more complicated to combine shipments/pickups in future. Many people have multiple credit cards on file, and you are welcome to change any given order to any given credit card.

Thanks for your business.

Hello Wayne,

That really depends on the shipping company. If you use Fedex, UPS or DHL, there will be no issues or problems at all. If you use a well known exporter such as JF Hillebrand, that will also be no problem. However if you use somebody with whom we have never done business before, that can be a big problem. We need to be able to prove to the satisfaction of the California State Board of Equalisation that the shipment goes DIRECTLY from our warehouse to an address outside the state of CA (it does not matter if it is international, it just matters that it is outside CA). Many shipping companies do not provide adequate documentation to prove this to THEIR satisfaction. It does not matter what WE think, it is the state of CA that makes this determination. Again all the major carriers above are appropriate, and provide documentation the state will accept. Thank you again for your business.

Thanks again James. Very helpful. You mentioned that there will be "no sales tax in future either, unless in future you decide to...pick the wines up at our store here". If a shipping company picks it up from your warehouse and sends it to a wine warehouse in Hong Kong, there won't be any tax issues right (i.e. no tax would incur)? I am going to send it to Crown Wine Storage here in Hong Kong.

Hi again Wayne,

Thank you for your order, billed now and e-mailed to you under separate cover.

Please note that the 73746 number is a temporary web order number. Your final confirmed Sales Order number is 344715. Both numbers reference each other in our files, but again 344715 is the confirmed order number.

I have indeed made notes in your file and on the order that you want the OWC for the wines. However please also specifically request this at the time of future shipment and we will be happy to send the wood along separately.

Note that there is no CA sales tax charged on the order. There will be no sales tax in future either, unless in future you decide to ship to an address in the state of CA, or pick the wines up at our store here.

You have been billed for the wine but not yet for any shipping costs, and will not be charged for shipping until these actually ship out. At that time, your shipping costs will be determined by the measured weight of the box(es) to be shipped, as well as the ship to address, etc.

Thanks for your business!

Hello again Wayne,
Thank you for your web order. I see you finally did figure out how to enter all the information. I have temporarily held these bottles on the Sales Order above without yet billing you, per your request on the order. The total on the order is $21,599.76. This does not include any sales tax. I cannot hold these bottles very long for you without billing. Your payment ensures you will get the wine once it arrives here, and at the price already paid.

We do not bill for shipping costs until the time you arrange for shipment. We will not charge sales tax in future as long as you ship directly from our store to an address outside the state of CA.

I have placed a note in your file as promised that you want the OWC. This should remind us to ask you about the wood whenever we arrange shipment in future. However you can also guaranty that you will get the OWC just by asking for it at the time of shipment.

Again please get back to me soon to confirm that I should bill this to the card you provided. I await this confirmation. Thanks for your business.

Regards,

James Gilleman
