Chapter 11

Debtor(s),

CONSENT MOTION TO WITHDRAW AS COUNSEL

Comes now William B. McDaniel, attorney for Wangard Partners, Inc., and files this Consent Motion to Withdraw as Counsel, and as grounds states the following:

1. Wangard Partners, Inc. (“Wangard”) is a creditor of Taylor Bean and Whitaker (“TBW”) and filed a claim (Claim No.: 339) in TBW’s main bankruptcy proceeding.
2. On August 20, 2011, TBW filed an adversary proceeding against Wangard, case number 11-ap-00465-JAF (the “Adversary Proceeding”).
3. On December 15, 2012, TBW filed an objection to Wangard’s claim in the main bankruptcy proceeding [Docket No.: 4606] (the “Objection to Claim”)
4. Wangard retained William B. McDaniel with the Bankruptcy Law Firm of Lansing J. Roy PA (collectively and individually: the “Firm”) as its counsel in regards to both the Adversary Proceeding and Objection to Claim.
5. The Firm filed both an answer on behalf of Wangard in the Adversary Proceeding [AP Docket No.: 6] and a response to the Objection to Claim [Main Docket No.: 4708].
6. On March 22, 2012 the Court issued an agreed order consolidating the issues raised by TBW’s Objection to Claim and Adversary Proceeding into the Adversary Proceeding

[Main Docket No.: 5086].

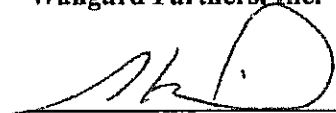

7. On March 22, 2012 Wangard, the Firm and TBW and its associated counsel attended a Court ordered mediation in Orlando Florida where the issues present in both the Adversary Proceeding and Objection to Claim were resolved between Wangard and TBW by way of a confidential settlement agreement.
8. On April 12, 2012 the Adversary Proceeding was dismissed via stipulation [AP Docket No.: 10].
9. As the issues for which the Firm has been retained have been resolved as between Wangard and TBW, the Firm's representation of Wangard has concluded.
10. Wangard has consented to the withdrawal of the Firm.

WHEREFORE, the Firm would move the Court to issue an Order granting this Consent Motion to Withdraw and specifically finding that the Firm has no further responsibility in this cause.
