Hi Barbara

Thank you for your inquiry. As you may have seen from our recent communications, YogaWorks filed for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 due to the COVID-19 pandemic and resulting studio closures and business restrictions. Unfortunately, as a company in bankruptcy we are required to adhere to Chapter 11 bankruptcy code and associated legal restrictions, which include how we manage our cash disbursements and customer refunds. A major hurdle we are working through is assessing the validity of the refund requests and the monetary scope of valid claims against what we can provide under the supervision of the court.

We have the information you provided regarding your remaining equipment classes with a value of $301. We will schedule your claim and then diligently push to have these refunds approved as part of the plan as timely as possible. This process could still up to 30 days.

If you would prefer not to wait through an uncertain outcome, we do understand, and we are offering very generous membership accommodations and training credits in lieu of refunds. If this is of interest to you, please let us know.

Though you may be justifiably frustrated with the time it has taken to respond, please know we are doing the best we can. Unfortunately, any additional follow ups we won't be able to address until we have a final resolution, so we politely ask that any additional status requests wait until we reach out directly.

From the bottom of our hearts, thank you so much for all of your support as we strive to fight through the COVID-19 pandemic while enhancing and servicing your practice and growth and keeping our teachers and staff working though these unprecedented challenges.

With gratitude,

Best,
Heather
